

WS (15mm) Establishing shot of interior hanger

RW scientist standing signing a clipboard that has been presented to him. AM walks up with some urgency holding an iPad (right to left). RW turns to greet AW

Medium (35mm) Two Scientists talking

AM: Sir, we've had an attempted 614 breach - a click through

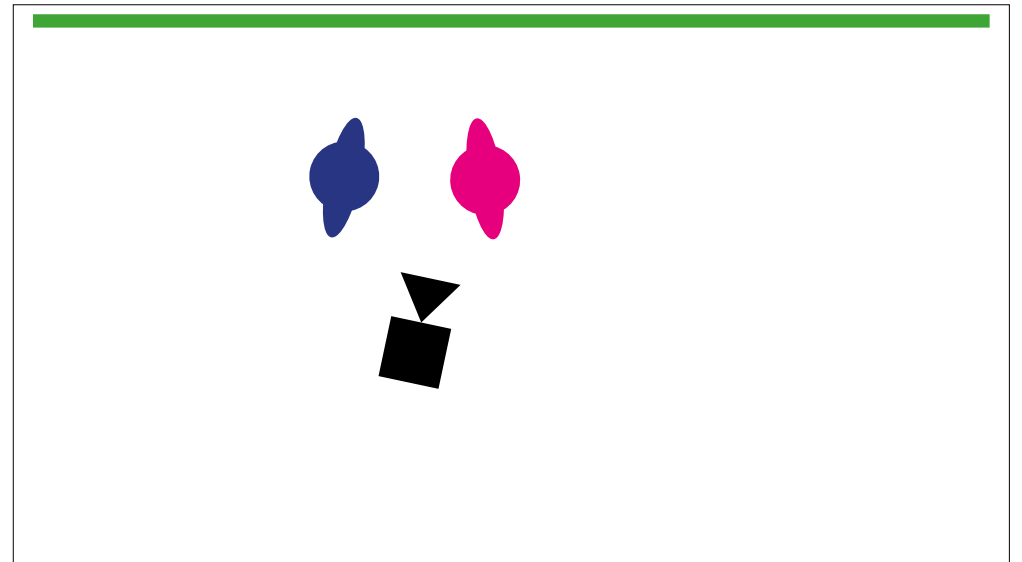

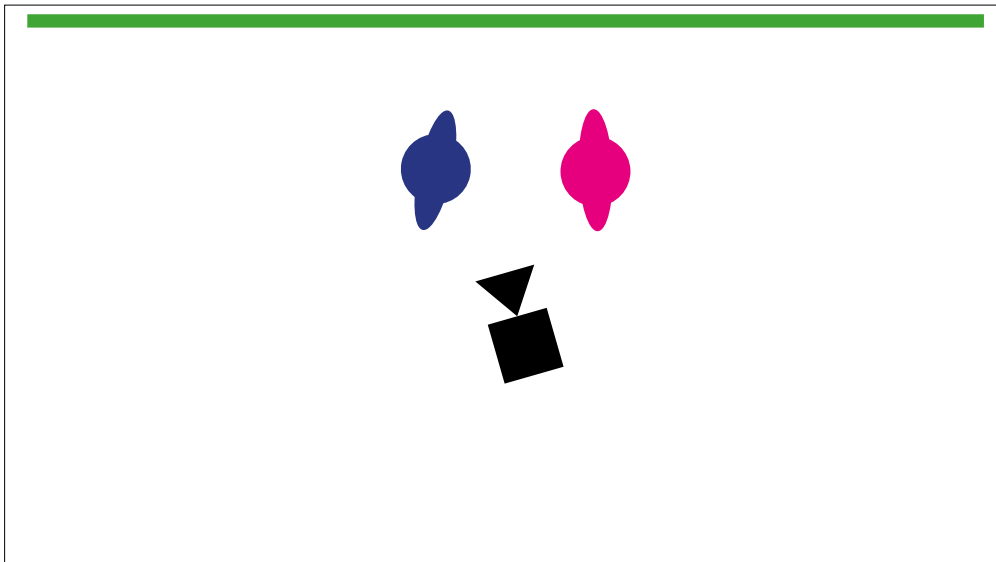

CU (85mm)

RW: What? I thought we cleared up those damn British census files?

CU (15mm) Two Scientists talking

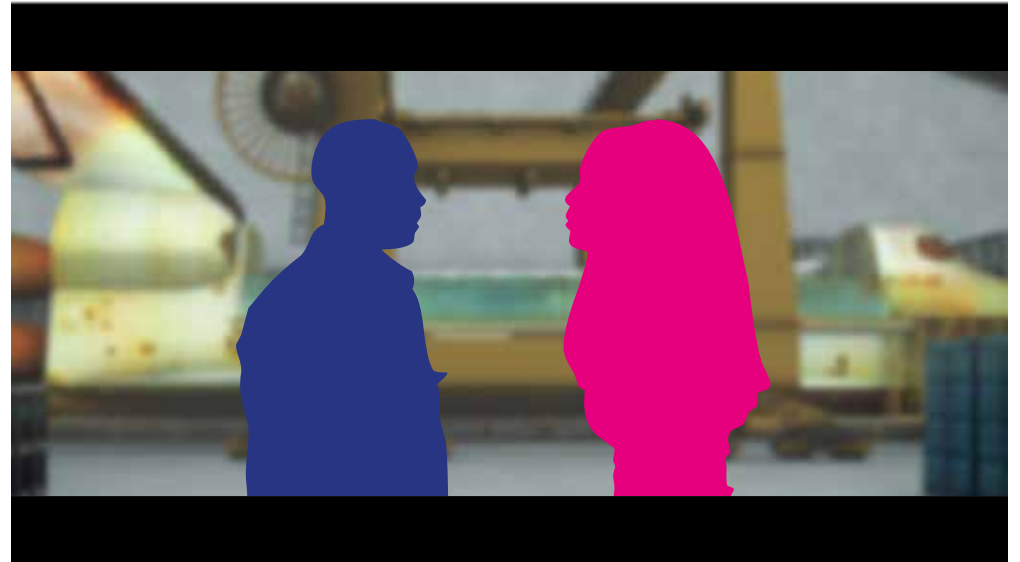

AM: Looks like we missed some Sir..

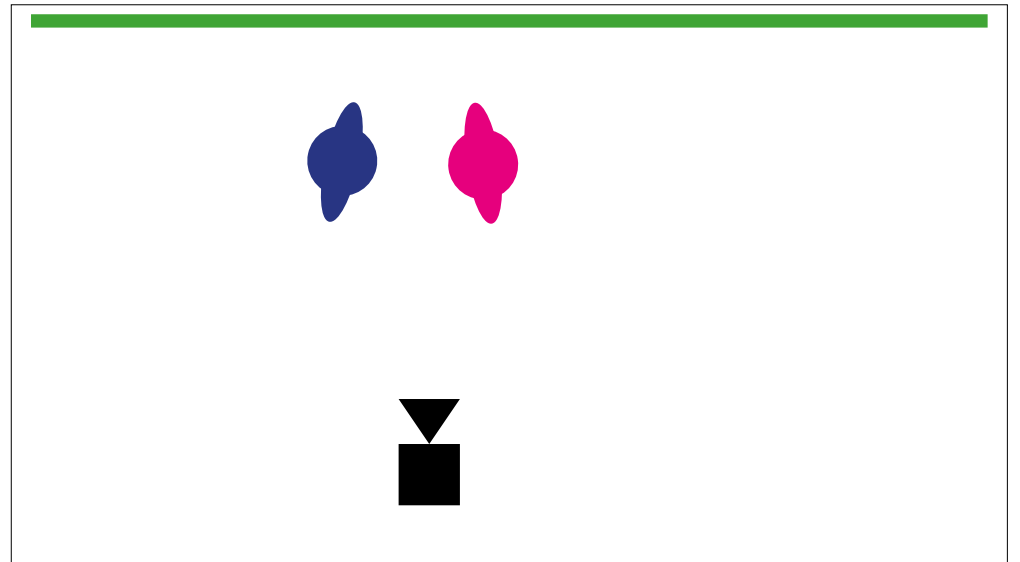

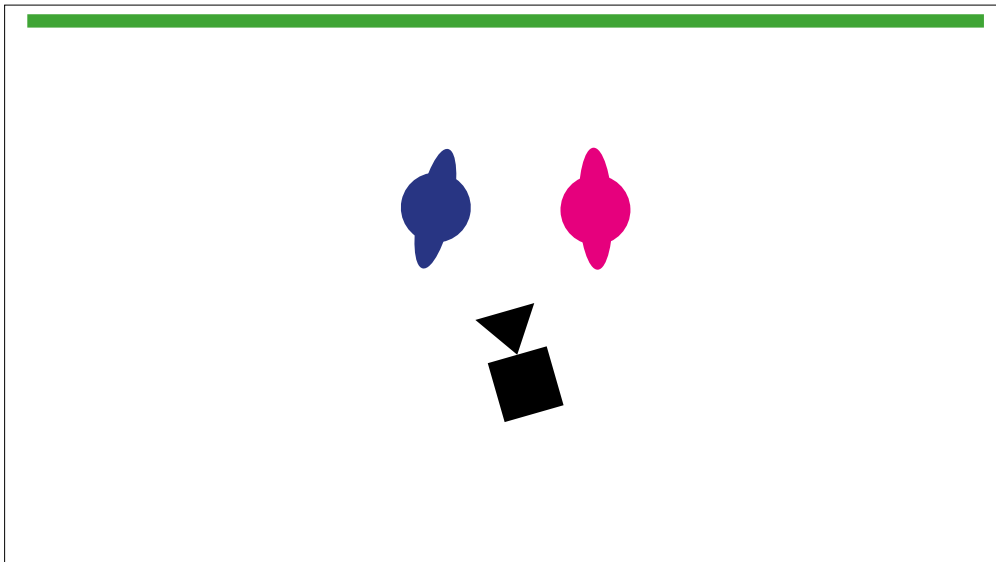

CU (85mm)

RW: Hell. Call MI6 in London with the IP address and get them to sort it out.

Medium (35mm) Two Scientists talking

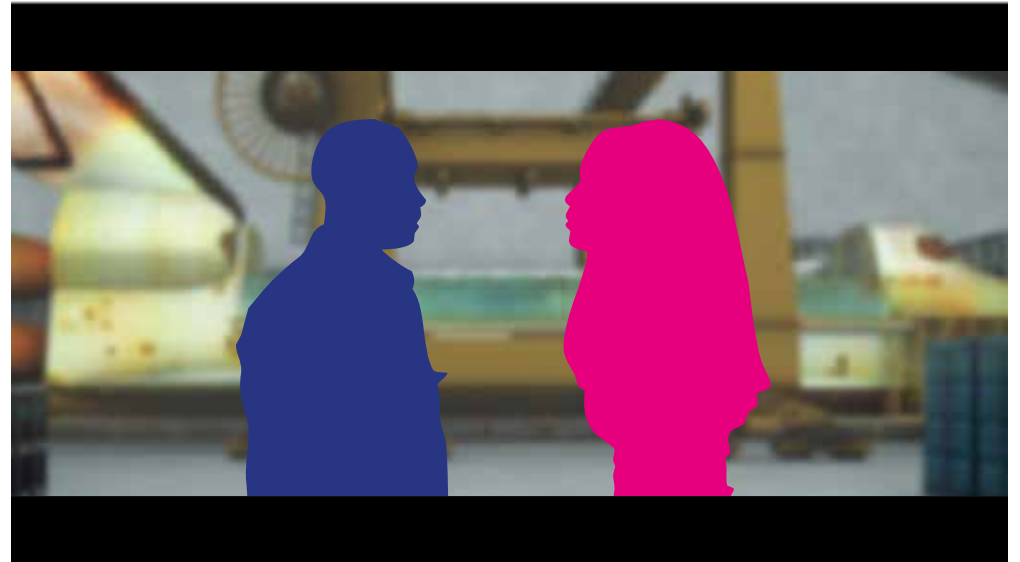

AM: Okay searching for IP address.
Moves to tap on iPad..

CU AM POV (35mm) of AM fingers tapping iPad

RW: Remind me - which fool invented that

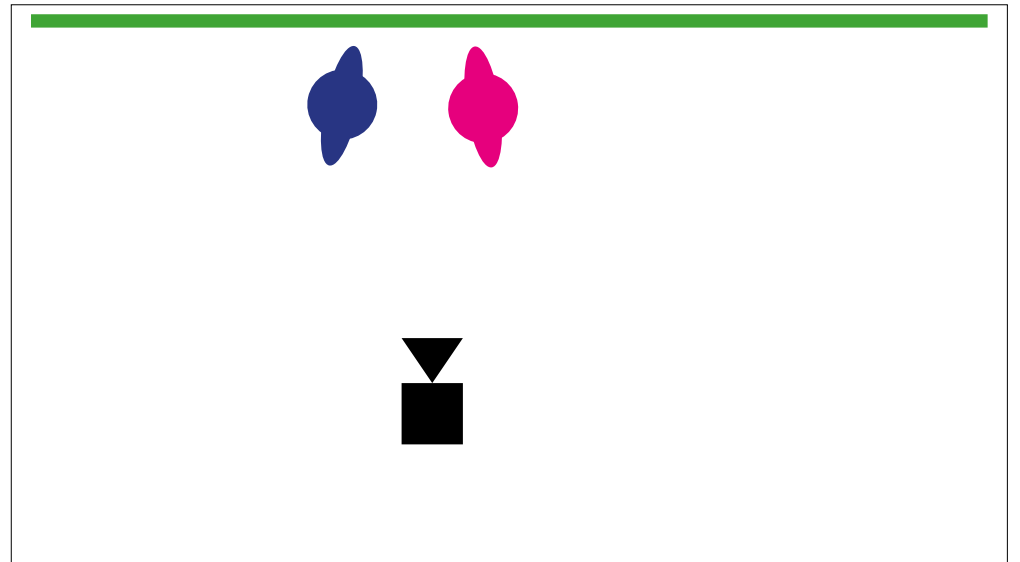

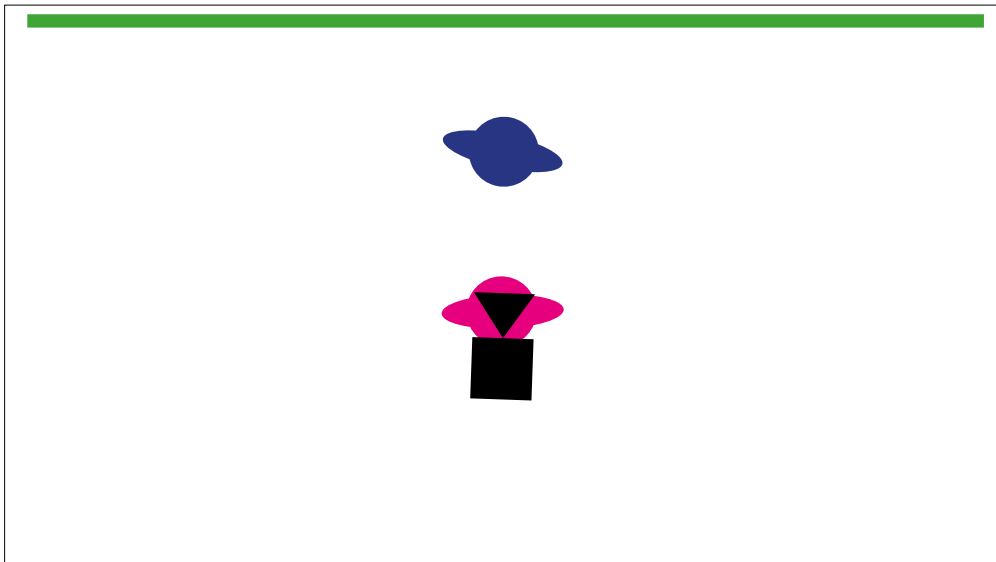

Medium (35mm) AM looks up from iPad

RW: "genealogy". It is asking for trouble having people looking into the past. It's like sending these Mars rovers

...

AM: but we've had to do them, to show progress - we can't just say we are not going to Mars and give no reason...

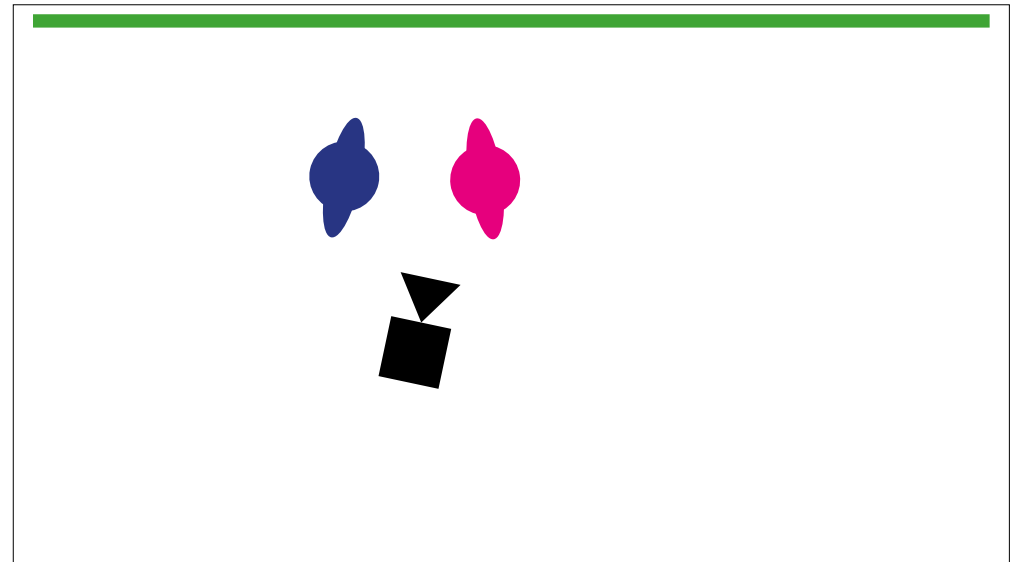

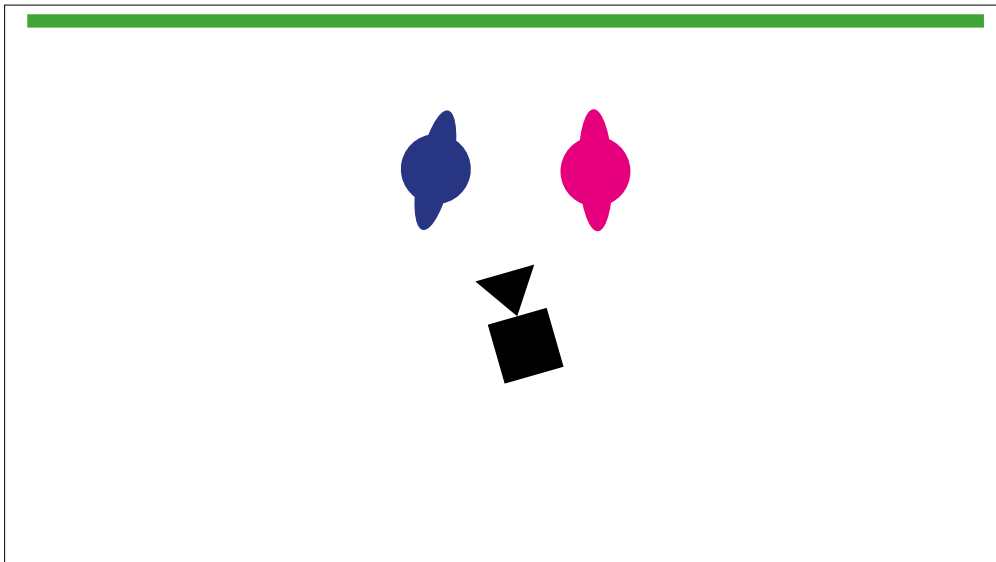

CU (85mm)

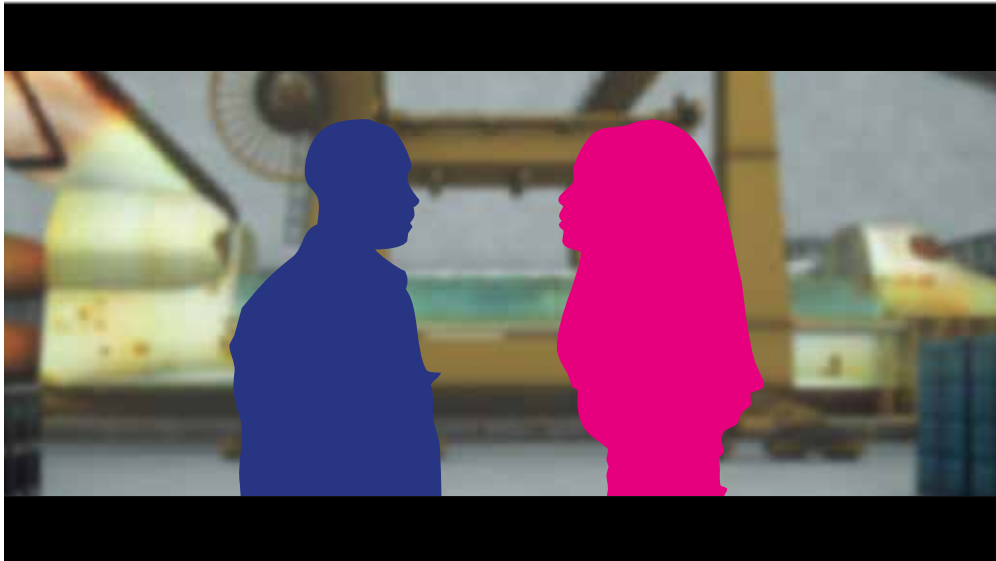

RW: Yes we can - we've been making up the past since we landed...

CU (15mm) Two Scientists talking

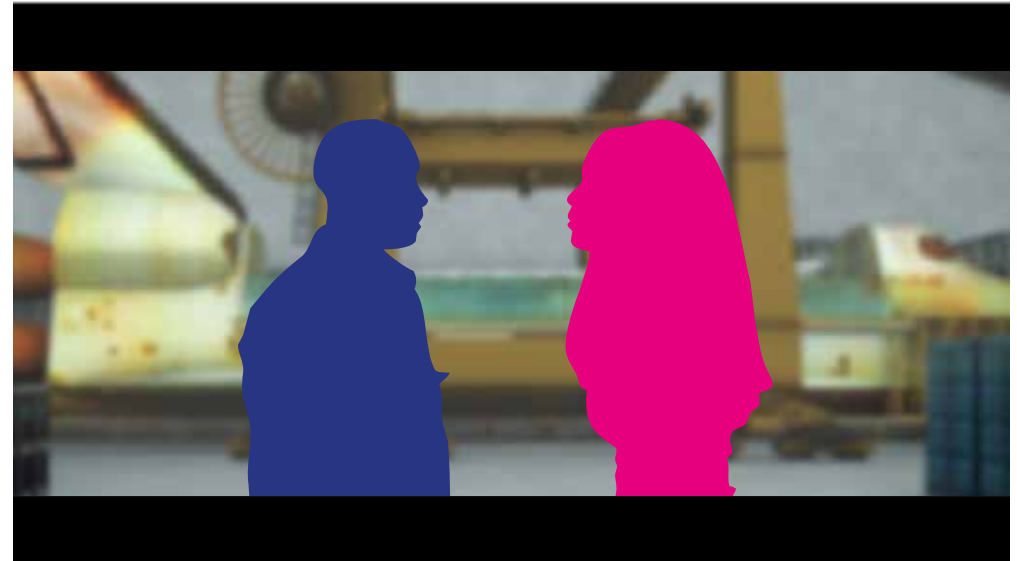

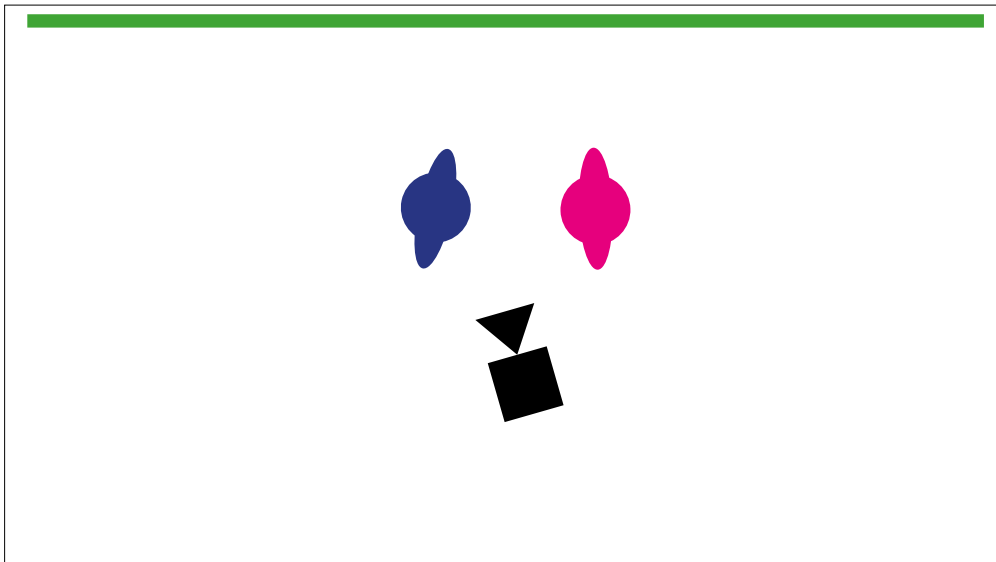

AM: But that was the past - this is the future

Medium (35mm) Two Scientists talking

RW: What do those Brits say "the past will always catch up with you" or something like that. That latest mission "Curiosity"; that is open to abuse you mark my words - should have been called "Trouble"!

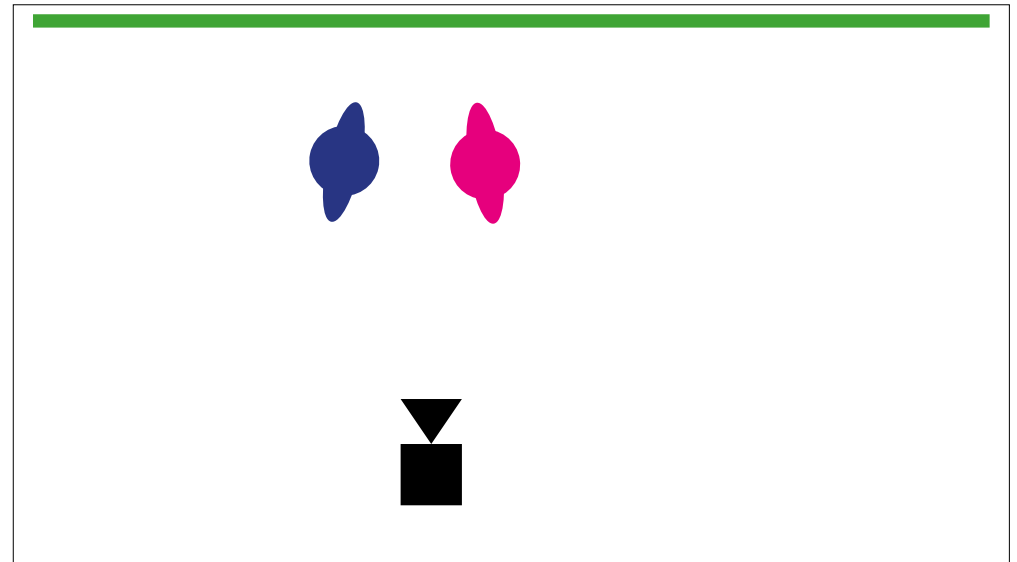

Medium (35mm) Two Scientists talking

AM: We managed to get through the space shuttle era without any problems...

RW glances back at space shuttle

RW: Hmm...it's different now, our technology has caught back up; you've got people snooping around all over that internet.

CU AM POV (35mm) of AM - iPad beeps

AM: IP address coming through now...

Close up of iPad screen doing a 'Google' earth zoom down towards house where man is still tapping away at his computer.

